AT&T AWARDS $5,000 TO ADOPT -A-CLASS PROGRAMS AT MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

San Juan Capistrano, CA – November 23, 2009 -- AT&T has contributed $5,000 to Mission San Juan Capistrano's "Adopt-A-Class" programs. A formal check presentation from John Heffernan, Director of External Affairs for AT&T, will be held on Saturday, December 5th at the annual Christmas at the Mission event.

Spearheaded in 2005, the "Adopt-A-Class" program has allowed under-served California 4th graders the ability to take part in the fun and hands-on learning that only a field trip to Mission San Juan Capistrano can provide. Courtesy of the donations made to the "Adopt-A-Class" program, each student receives a free field trip, docent-guided tour, and an interactive activity book, "Passport Explorer."

"The need for the Adopt-A-Class scholarship program is evident in the increased number of applications and inability for the Mission to fund all scholarship requests since the program's inception. The effectiveness of the program itself is highly apparent as expressed in the letters we receive from both teachers and students who have had the unique opportunity to experience hands-on learning in our unique, historical environment," stated the Mission in its funding application.

"At AT&T, we're committed to supporting programs that provide learning opportunities for young people, especially for those from under-served communities," said John Heffernan, AT&T External Affairs. "That's why we're proud to contribute to the 'Adopt-A-Class' program, helping Mission San Juan Capistrano bring history to life for thousands of area children."

To date, more than 4,010 students and chaperones have been adopted by the Mission since 2005.
